Unit 3

Lesson 4: Comparing Proportional Relationships

Let's compare proportional relationships.

4.1: What's the Relationship?

The equation $y = 4.2x$ could represent a variety of different situations.

1. Write a description of a situation represented by this equation. Decide what quantities x and y represent in your situation.

2. Make a table and a graph that represent the situation.